Throughout the work week my father used to crisscross several of the northern plain states visiting his various customers. During the winter months he carried a “survivor bag” loaded with blankets, candles, food, and Sterno can heaters. This was a precaution in the event he was caught in a winter storm or experienced vehicle problems. In the rural northern plains one could be stranded without civilization nearby. On Sunday evening, in preparation for his Monday morning departure, I helped dad load his car with samples, supplies, and the “survivor bag.” This bag was an old military duffle bag with the drawstring that sealed the contents within.

On March first we begin the season of Lent with Ash Wednesday, and for the next 40 days and six Sundays we journey to Easter. I would suggest that this journey is our “survivor bag” complete with the drawstring.

The drawstring of a duffle bag takes a large opening and draws the cloth together into a smaller opening. That’s a picture of the Biblical story; things come together with concise clarity. Often times we have that “Ah ha” moment when the Bible is better understood.

For me that drawstring was drawn through a series of events:

♦ The first came with the reading of the Bible from Genesis to Revelation and discovering the seamless flow of the biblical narrative.

♦ The second came during a seminary class entitled, “The History of Israel.” I enjoy history, but I was not prepared for what I would learn through the systematic flow of the history of the Old Testament.

♦ The third occurred during my early years in ministry when our then resident bishop, James S. Thomas, called together the clergy of the annual conference for a study on covenant. I can still picture the setting where we gathered and received that fascinating teaching.

♦ The fourth came through Disciple Bible Study where I traveled with several groups, each time for 34 weeks through the Bible. The view was breath taking.

If each of these is a pleat, then through their encounters, the drawstring was pulling it all together on the “survivor bag.” The picture focused in on the biblical story as a story of redemption. Like a fascinating novel that begins in paradise (Genesis 1 & 2), only to be snatched away (Genesis 3); the rest of the novel is about restoration.

During the weeks of Lent, from March 1 and ending on Easter Sunday, we’ll be looking at this wonderful epic. The goal is to see how God has and is pulling it all together.

I hope you will join us as we look at the time-line of redemption, the history of God at work, the power of covenant, and the mystery of God pulling the divine drawstring. Our prayer is that we will each get a fresh vision of God’s “survivor bag.”

March 12th is the last day orders will be taken.
Last month, we discussed two significant German-speaking preachers who were instrumental in the formation of the present day United Methodist Church. This month, we will identify a third German speaking pastor, Jacob Albright. Jacob Albright was born Jakob Albrecht on May 1, 1759 hear Pottstown, Pennsylvania and was baptized into the Lutheran Church. His parents were German immigrants. During the American Revolution, he served as both a drummer boy and a guard for Hessian prisoners in Reading, Pennsylvania. Jacob married Catherine Cope and they had (the number is debated) six or nine children. Albright took up farming and also was in the business of manufacturing tiles used as roofing material.

In 1790, several of Albright's children died of dysentery. This caused him to go through a religious crisis. He did not feel that Lutheranism gave him comfort. He met with members of the United Brethren in Christ (the denomination discussed last month founded by Philip Otterbein and Martin Bohm). He took their Wesleyan message and started religious classes. Though he considered himself unfit to preach, his messages were powerful and moving. Albright was eventually ordained a minister by these classes, who had no formal name or official documents, and later elected bishop at their first annual conference. He never accepted the title of bishop.

Albright died on May 17, 1808. The conference, in 1816, took the name The Evangelical Association. Through the years, there were splits and reunifications and the church was renamed the Evangelical Church. It merged with the United Brethren in Christ in 1946 to form the Evangelical United Brethren Church. That church, sometimes referred to as the EUB, merged with the Methodist Church in 1968 to form the United Methodist Church we know today.

Albright's name lives on in Albright College, a United Methodist college located in Reading, Pennsylvania. Ironically, it is located only two or three miles from the location where Jacob Albright guarded Hessian prisoners of war in the American Revolution.

The path to our current Methodist church structure is long and winding, with many changes. However, as you can see the seeds of our faith were sown by people with a deep faith in God and an unrelenting drive to bring the love of Christ to people everywhere.

UMCOR SUNDAY

(formerly One Great Hour of Sharing) . . .

We cannot all be present when disaster strikes but on March 26th, we can do our part by participating in a Special Sunday celebrated by the United Methodist Church. Together, we can help fund the critical disaster relief efforts of the United Methodist Committee on Relief (UMCOR).

For more than 75 years, UMCOR has provided disaster relief, often long after others have left the scene. UMCOR has aided refugees and confronted the crippling challenges of world hunger and poverty. However, UMCOR simply cannot do it without us. Unlike other benevolent causes, UMCOR does not receive any funds from the regular United Methodist Church budget. Our generous gifts help cover the agency’s administrative costs so UMCOR can continue to guarantee that 100 percent of all other donations go toward specific relief projects.

Our support is critical to this mission. Let’s be there for those in need. Envelopes will be in our bulletins on Sunday, March 26th. Please prayerfully consider how God would have you join us in cheerfully and generously showing God’s love around the world with your gifts.
