Looking for something fun to do as the warmer weather is getting closer? Try making this bird feeder together as a family!

Materials Needed:

Plastic Jug (From Water, Milk, etc.)
Paint
Clear Acrylic Sealer
Bird Seed
Paint Brush
Scissors, Utility Knife, or other cutting tool

Instructions:

Make sure the plastic bottle is clean and dry. Use a pair of scissors, utility knife, or other cutting tool to make a hole in the side of the plastic jug. Make sure it is big enough for the bird to fit into the hole. You may need to sand down any sharp points.

You can now paint the plastic jug however you like. Let the paint dry and then spray it with a few coats of the clear acrylic sealer. Let it dry.

Put loose bird seed or a molded bird feeder into the plastic jug bird feeder. You can now hang the bird feeder in your yard. You can use a shepherd's hook style plant hanger by simply placing the handle of the jug onto the hook. You can also hang it from a tree or any other place using some twine.
